

I wish to make a comment on the relaxation of the rules limiting ownership of radio/TV/newspaper media. I am greatly concerned that this will lead to a consolidation of media ownership, similarly to what has happen to the airline industry where the number participants is quite low.

It is bad enough now that, in my area, Comcast is the only cable provider. They control most sporting events for example. Providing an opportunity for them also control news does not seem prudent to me.